

WE NOMINATE

Tristram Burges Johnson, a lifelong resident of this community and the second Princetonian to follow his father onto Town Topics' cover, who at age 34 ranks among the youngest men ever to have been honored with the presidency of the Borough Council, the post to which he was elevated on New Year's Day at the governing body's annual reorganization meeting. In becoming "Second in Command" of the Borough's 140-year old elective form of government, Johnson not only assumed added responsibilities but also received "one of the big surprises of my life", inasmuch as at the time of his election he was away, returning from a brief holiday-season vacation with his wife and four children.

In the year ahead Johnson, whose Council assignments for 1954 will include the chairmanship of the Finance Committee and duty as the Council's representative on the long-working Planning Board, will be wrestling with the problems he feels should be the deep concern of all citizens and will therefore be seeking to broaden the voters' understanding of their stake in local government. It is his deeply held conviction that one of the primary missions of volunteer public officials such as himself is "the pure-and-simple public relations job of keeping the electorate informed, interested and of course active."

Johnson has taken to heart the axiom of "practicing what you preach" and since his return from three and one-half years of overseas service with the World War II Army has been a driving force in a dozen different organizations. Three of his alma maters—Princeton Country Day School, Lawrenceville and Yale—have named him to alumni offices and he is currently a member of the Yale Alumni Board. This month, a week after attending his first session as a newly designated board member of the Children's Home Society of New Jersey, he will be formally installed as president of the Princeton Republican Club. He is secretary of the Board of Trustees of the First Presbyterian Church, active in the Rotary Club, a director of the English-Speaking Union and a past officer of the Community Players.

Now directing a course, "Dollar Sense," in the Adult School for the second time in three years, this former Campaign Chairman of the Princeton Community Chest "majored" in Comparative Governments at Yale, enlisted in the Armed Forces months before Pearl Harbor and necessarily postponed launching his career until early 1946. At first he combined studies in New York University's Graduate School of Business Administration with affiliations with Trenton and New York investment banking houses and later directed his own firm in Princeton and in New York for a period of two years. Last March he became co-manager of the local branch of the investment brokerage firm of Laidlaw and Company.

For advancing the cause of sound government by striving to bridge the gap between governing bodies and those whom they represent; for helping perpetuate the cherished tradition of the volunteer citizen who deems it a privilege to serve; for his unbounded faith in the Princeton of 1954; he is our nominee for School Budgets Higher. School costs in both Princeton districts will be higher for the 12-month period starting next September, according to the budgets made public this week. The evening of Tuesday, January 19, has been set as the date for the public hearing in each case, with district elections on February 9.

The increase in the borough is approximately $37,000, with just under $20,000 of that figure to be raised by taxation in the municipality. The estimated increase in the tax rate on such a basis is five points. In the township, the increase (all of it to be raised by taxation in the municipality) is just over $48,000; no estimate of the figure in terms of the 1954 tax rate has yet been made.

Township Report. The largest share of the township's increase is credited to some $17,000 in salaries. Of this figure, about

Adult School Dates

Registration for the 1954 term of the Princeton Adult School will be held at the Nassau Street School from 4:30 to 6 and 8 to 9 p.m. on Thursday, Monday and Tuesday. The school opens next Thursday, January 14.

The 24 courses offered range from dance instruction and a course in the background of jazz to dog obedience, flower arranging and a study of world religions. No registrations will be accepted by mail and a fee of $1 will be charged for late registration.

The course in social dancing has been divided into two one-hour courses. The period from 8 to 8:55 on Thursdays will be for beginners, with instruction in the waltz, fox trot and general ballroom dancing. Lessons in dances such as the tango, samba and rumba will be offered for intermediate dancers from 9 to 9:55.

$8,000 is accounted for in salary increases for present personnel ($150 normal increment and a $150 raise "across the board.") The remainder will permit the addition to the staff of a third grade teacher, a teacher in remedial reading and a language teacher.

Minimum starting salary for new teachers in the township has been raised to $3,150 per year, the board announced. The previous minimum was $3,000 and the step was taken to keep the township in line with the borough's policy in this respect.

The township budget will also be higher because of increased transportation costs. An additional $8,700 is being asked for this expense, the figure to include use of an additional bus during the year starting in September.

The per pupil cost of sending township residents to Princeton High School is also being raised $15. by the borough, the board pointed out. This accounts for another $6,000 of the higher overall figure for 1954-55. The need for buying extended insurance coverage on the Valley Road building is responsible for a $2,700 jump in budget, while other increases are traceable to a greater outlay for textbooks and higher fuel and power costs.

Borough Report. The Borough Board of Education commented that "there are two principal reasons why additional funds are being requested. The first concerns the salaries paid to the entire personnel of the system.

"The board has conducted for the past several years a survey of salaries paid in comparable districts, and is attempting to maintain a position which will enable it to attract and hire efficient teachers, secretaries, and members of the custodial staff. The results from the survey this year show that an increase of $275 is necessary to hold our position and the board is unanimous in its decision to ask for this amount.

"The second factor, of which every citizen is aware, is the increase in student enrollment. This means not only additional teachers but more books and supplies. This budget provides for the possibility of three new teachers and increases in all accounts related to books, supplies and equipment."

Time for a Change? Princetonians busy with their own affairs and firm in the belief that their local government is well run may pay little heed to the warning sounded by Mayor P. MacKay Sturges in his New Year's Day address. To those who have virtually any degree of first-hand association with municipal affairs in Princeton, however, his remarks are clearly prophetic in nature.

In essence, the mayor said emphatically that Princeton must examine its "amateur" form of government and determine whether mid-twentieth century problems in an ever-growing community can continue to be solved by the same method of operation followed in the early nineteenth century. It is a note that has been struck in other post-war New Year's Day addresses, but the passage of time has lent it added weight.

Immediately after taking office for his third two-year term, the mayor told his listeners at Borough Hall:

"Our elected Borough government is, and has been since its inception 140 years ago, essentially amateur and virtually unpaid. The elected officials are aided in their administration by groups of Six employees of the borough were mentioned by Mayor Sturges in his New Year's Day address for completion of 25 years' service to the municipality during the coming 12 months. His "appreciation for jobs well done" went to:

Mrs. Alice H. Schannel, welfare department; Sergeant Raymond Mondone and Patrolman James Hennon, police department; George Wilson, Felix Simone and Anthony Petrone, public works department.

citizens comprising various boards such as the Board of Health, Board of Adjustment, Planning Board, Borough Housing Authority, Local Assistance Board, Trustees of the Public Library, etc. These individuals are in turn amateurs and unpaid.

"The form of government and the method of operation is virtually the same now as it was early in the nineteenth century, as the old minute books in the archives show. But time has marched on since those days and lives of citizens and the problems of government have become complex. There are many who believe that amateur government in larger communities is not standing up under the strain of present conditions.

"Princeton has been most fortunate over the years in the number and caliber of its citizens willing to serve their community but many of the questions now coming before and to be determined by these boards or by Council, such as certain phases of planning and zoning, require far more knowledge and experience than the amateur has and far more time than he is able or willing to give. The result, in many instances, is inexcusable delays in the accomplishment of various purposes. With the controversial matter of Consolidation settled, citizens of the Borough may well consider whether the present system will be wholly satisfactory in years to come, or whether the amateurs may not need more guidance and help from competent professionals."

Other Problems Ahead. Mr. Sturges also foresaw problems arising from the defeat of two issues at the November polls—consolidation and parking. Without consolidation, the time will come, he feels, when the borough and township must re-examine their combined use of police radio equipment, the fire department and the already inadequate public library. The latter is currently too small for borough needs; police radio and fire-fighting services may have to be limited to one municipality, the mayor indicated.

Frequent consultation at the municipal level is a must, he pointed out. In addition to the foregoing points, "on the broad questions of health, planning and zoning, I believe, there should be far greater cooperation in the future than there has been in the past."

On the matter of off-street parking, Mr. Sturges recorded himself as in thorough disagreement with the majority of voters, who rejected the proposal to acquire three lots for municipal ownership. Declaring that they would be of vital importance to the town in years to come, he commented that "it may prove unfortunate for the borough that a relatively small group who appeared to be motivated by selfish

It's New to Us

Ninety-nine Tables for One. George Alexander, who keeps T-square and lathe in a shop out on the Somerville Road, has designed a coffee table for one of his clients, and it's the simplest, most ingenious piece of furniture we've seen in a long while.

The table is really two tables, but it can be one if you wish. Mr. Alexander has taken mahogany, 48 by 27 inches, and cut it diagonally lengthwise to make two almost-wedge-shaped pieces. Each piece has four sturdy legs, two at each end, and each piece is an entity.

Put together, you have a regular oblong table. Put together another way, you have a parallelogram. Narrow ends together, you have a long butterfly-shaped table; wide ends together, you have a table shaped like airplane wings.

Well, we spent quite a slice of time trying the two sections this way and that, and it seems to us that the table might be the most useful furnishing in any living room. For example: with its ends together, it could serve the wing chair by the fireplace and the guest on the far end of the couch—plus all the floor-sitters in between.

The table we saw was done, as we say, in mahogany about an inch thick. But it could be thicker, or it could be any wood you choose. For this particular model, Mr. Alexander has used an oil finish only, so that the warmth and grain of the mahogany is an integral part of the design.

This finish is impervious to almost anything, even guests. The price of the tables is about $70.

and you are actually getting two complete end tables for that price.

A few more new pieces have been added to the Alexander shop. We liked a dining table, refectory style, done in teak with oak legs. Extended, this table seats 10 or 12, and when the extensions are pulled out, their grain matches the grain of the center leaf. Legs are tapered, with a V-shaped band of oak outlining the darker wood of the teak.

Toak has also been used for a server, designed and crafted by Mr. Alexander. The server is in three sections with drawers in the middle. On one side, concealed by a door, is bar space with racks for glasses on the inside of the door. On the other side are trays for silver—very shallow for space saving.

Other Alexander designs that we saw include a cabinet for record-playing equipment and loud speaker, nested end tables, and a coffee table designed for straight or circular couch. Turn the curved end toward the circular couch, and the straight end toward the straight couch. This table hasn't been made up yet, so if you have two such couches, you may be the first one to own it.

Band-Box. We stopped by the new Betty Wright Shop the other day just to look over the expanded quarters at 144 Nassau. We found, besides the new counters and racks, a comfortable hat bar, wide, deep and mirrored fore and aft. You could spend the morning in one of the little chairs before the mirrors and never know that time existed.

In the front of the shop where the lingerie counter is, we found something called a waltz-length nightgown. It's another way of referring to a shortie—you know how names go in the fashion world. Maybe you could do a Blue Danube to it—the one we saw was blue. Slips on over the head, with lots of nylon pleats and flattery.

A black full-length gown in this shop is nylon tricot with a bodice top of black lace. Pale blue nylon velvet makes ribbon shoulder straps and a narrow sash belt.

For a lovely wedding or shower gift, look at the bridal sets, done in ice-blue satin with appropriate embroidery. Slippers and slipper cases, handkerchief or hosiery—Continued on Page 10 interests rather than the common good were able, through the distortion of true facts, to deprive the community of improvements of essential value."

On the subject of lack of foresight, the mayor had this added point to make:

"Princeton citizens apparently take a certain amount of pride in being outspoken against any improvement or change; and with equal alacrity they welcome it a few years later. This was certainly true in the case of parking meters and of the improvement of various streets. Time may tell how our citizens will react in the future to other proposals."

On other points, the mayor stressed the decline of the tax rate for local purposes in the face of an over-all increase; a drop from $1.42 to $1.27 in the borough rate during the past four years while county and school expenditures have resulted in a total rate of $4.42 in 1950 and $4.73 last year.

He remarked on the acquisition of the Marquand tract of 11 acres, a welcome addition to borough property which will be used to expand recreational facilities in town. Plans are under way, too, for further publication of the "Report to the Citizens," the 16-page booklet which was distributed to all taxpayers last year with satisfactory results.

Salzman Renamed. While Mayor Sturges began his third term, Committeeman Albert Salzman was chosen as Mayor of the Township for the fourth year at

Weather Report

Princetonians who are under the impression that December was warm are absolutely right. Despite the first skating on Carnegie Lake in three years, the average temperature of 39.8 was almost five degrees above average. That makes it the warmest December since 1931.

No measurable snow fall was recorded, although there were a few flurries—the last on New Year's Eve. Accordingly, it was the fifth time in 22 years that December has been snowless—and the first since the war-time year of 1943.

A robin was reported in Tinton as January got underway. By the calendar, however, there were still 73 days of winter left, with snow and ice a considerably better bet before more robins showed.

the New Year's Day ceremonies in Township Hall.

Mayor Salzman, who was also entering his 15th year on the committee, expressed his confidence that 1954 would be a year of accomplishment, particularly with "the threat of consolidation not hanging over us."

Richard H. Wood of Mount Lucas Road, the first Democrat on the committee in over a quarter-century, took the committeeman's oath and the oath of allegiance from Magistrate Louis E. Gerber, who began his 25th year as a township official.

Mr. Wood was named to the Local Assistance Board and all other officials and board members were re-appointed. Committee appointments will be announced shortly.

Johnson Is Council Head. At Borough Hall, Tristram B. Johnson was elected president of the Council, succeeding John A. Archer. Richard W. Colman, Jr. and Raymond F. Male took office as the first Democratic councilmen in eight years.

Mayor Sturges named the following committee chairman: finance, Mr. Johnson; public works, Alfred E. Soyenson; building and grounds, Mr. Colman; fire, Charles J. Rucknag; police, J. Dayton Voorhees, and welfare, Mr. Male. All officials and members of boards were reappointed, with the exception of Mr. Male as the new representative on the Local Assistance Board.

UNIVERSITY CONCERTS
The Philadelphia Woodwind Quintet will present the third concert in Series Two of the University Concerts next Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter Theatre. Tickets are now on sale at the University Store (tel. 3333) and may be obtained at the box office Tuesday evening.
The members of the quintet are William Kincaid, flute; John de Lancie, oboe; Anthony Gigliotti, clarinet; Sol Schoenbach, bassoon, and Mason Jones, horn. All five are leading members of the Philadelphia Orchestra. They organized the quintet in 1950 in order to acquaint the music public with the varied works written for wind instruments.
The program for Tuesday's concert will include the Divertimento in B flat by Haydn; Quintet in E flat by Beethoven; Berzowsky's Suite No. 1, opus 11; Moore's Quintet; Aubade for Flute, Oboe and Clarinet by De Wailly, and three short pieces by Jacques Ibert.
PRINCETON SYMPHONY
Gaby Casadesus will be the soloist in Mozart's Concerto in E Flat for Piano and Orchestra and Faure's Ballade for Piano and Orchestra at the winter concert of the Princeton Symphony Orchestra next Saturday evening, January 16, in McCarter Theatre. Tickets priced at $3, $2.40, $1.80 and $1.20 go on sale this Friday at the University Store.
Mail orders to P.O. Box 347 should include a stamped self-addressed envelope and checks payable to Princeton Symphony.
The concert under the direction of Nicholas Harsanyi will mark one of Mrs. Casadesus rare appearances here, and in addition the first performance of a work by another noted Princetonian, "Elegy of Lycidas" by Nathaniel Burt. Mr. Burt's latest book, "Scotland's Burning," is being also published this month. He is the son of Struthers Burt and Katherine Newlin Burt, both novelists and residents here for many years.
Other works on the Orchestra's program will be the Overture to "Semiramide" by Rossini and a group of waltzes from the Richard Strauss light opera "Der Rosenkavalier."
CHILDREN'S CONCERT
The program for the Children's Concert planned by the Princeton Symphony will include a demonstration of brass instruments, selections especially chosen to appeal to children of the first through eighth grade level, and a commentary by Mrs. Harold Van Doren.

The concert will be given under the direction of Mr. Harsanyi at 3:30 p.m. in McCarter on Saturday, January 16. Tickets priced at 60 cents will be available in all schools, and at the University Store and the box office.

Thomas Artin will give a demonstration of the trombone, Bruce McKinney the trumpet and John Harbison the tuba. They will then play a Fugue for Three Instruments composed by John Harbison. Steven Young will demonstrate the horn.
Other works on the program will be the Overture to "Semiramide," one movement of Handel's Horn Concerto featuring Weldon Wilbur, the first horn player of the Princeton Symphony who has also played this selection with the New York Philharmonic; and the "Rosenkavalier" waltzes.
THE PLAYHOUSE
Hondo (Thurs.-Tues.) features John Wayne in an action-filled western done in Warner Color and 3-D. It's clearly a "Shane"—type story of the loner protecting settlers on the plains, but the opponents in this case are some highly active and destructive Apaches. The assorted warfare and romantic elements are greatly enhanced by the full mastery of the 3-D technique.

News Of The Theatres
All the Brothers Were Valiant (Wed.-Sat.) throws around action and excitement in indiscriminate fashion. Made once before, the film has whaling, romance, kidnapping, a fortune in pearls, mutiny and various other popular ingredients, including Technicolor. The "big name" cast includes Robert Taylor, Stewart Granger, Ann Blyth, Bette St. John, Keenan Wynn, James Whitmore and Kurt Kasznar.

THE GARDEN
Below the Sahara (Thurs.-Sat.) is a marvelous Africa travelogue, filled with fascinating wild, animal, native and scenic sequences. Filmed with great skill in Technicolor by Mr. and Mrs. Armand Denis. The thirty-minute short "Black Fury" is playing on the same bill. It's an exciting Technicolor chase of a rogue bear.
Decameron Nights (Mon.-Wed.) rates quite a band for a fabulous physical production in marvelous Technicolor settings and lively treatment from three tales from Boccaccio's "Decameron." The fables come out to fit the modern view of courtly love in the Middle Ages, but they are done with great amounts of wit, adult appeal and charm. Joan Fontaine, Louis Jordan, Binnie Barnes and Godfrey Tearle are outstanding in multiple roles which call for versatility and a fine comic touch.

The Stranger Wore a Gun (Thurs.-Sat.) is a western quickie and it shows. Randolph Scott plays an ex-Confederate spy who has a hard time going straight out in the wild west. The standard perils beset him. Other principals are Claire Trevor, Joan Weldon and George Macready. Technicolor.

Mr. Brakeley, who retired as vice-president and treasurer of Princeton University last June, has previously been a vice-president of PMI and a member of the board. Mrs. Palmer will continue as a director.

McLean Reported Out. Professor Joseph McLean of the University's politics department has been widely reported as having decided not to take a post in Governor-elect Robert B. Meyner's new Democratic administration.
Dr. McLean, Mr. Meyner's primary campaign manager and a close associate, has declined to comment on reports of a rift between the two men. A minor factor in his decision was the selection of Grover C. Richman Jr. as attorney general, according to the Newark News. Dr. McLean had urged the appointment of Archibald S. Alexander, Democratic national committeeman from Bernardsville.

New Quaker School. Ground has been broken by the Princeton Society of Friends for its new First-Day School building on the grounds of the Stony Brook Meeting House on Quaker Road.
The school has been meeting for two years at Miss Fine's School and prior to that at Miss Mason's. Completion of the new building will consolidate the First-Day School and meetings for worship at the same location. The Quaker meeting house is the oldest public building in Princeton, erected by the town's earliest settlers in 1726.
The new building has been designed by Howard P. Vermilya, Princeton architect, and is being built by J. Cameron Goodwin.

The Friends' building committee is composed of Bruce H. French, chairman; Mrs. Julia D. Meredith, Dr. Frank Aydelotte, W. Taylor Thom, William and Hugh Borton, and Richard Stoddard.
S. A. R. Elect. Bruce H. French has been elected president of the Princeton Chapter, Sons of the Revolution, for 1954. He succeeds L. Beaumont Reed, president for the past two years, as head of the largest chapter in the state.
Other officers named at the anniversary dinner Monday commemorating the Battle of Princeton were Leslie W. Perrine, vice-president; Rollin C. Montelius, secretary; George R. Bowers, treasurer, and the Rev. Guy A. Bensinger, chaplain. Nine new members were elected.
Speakers at the dinner were Professor Gordon B. Turner of the history department at the University, who discussed the Revolutionary War as a war of coalitions, and Russell P. Dey, secretary of the state society.

Clark Attacks Dulles. Judge William Clark, the ousted chief justice of U. S. courts in Germany, returned to this country Tuesday on the Queen Mary and blasted the State Department and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.
Judge Clark, whose home is on Rosedale Road, was quoted as saying that the State Department was "lying in its teeth" when it denied that his passport had been forcibly seized on Secretary Dulles' order.

"I advise the Secretary of State that the American people do not like the drill sergeant mentality, nor will they favor the treatment of a judge with 30 years honorable service at a PFC absent without leave," he said in a prepared statement.
He asserted that the root of the dispute which led to his ouster was his criticism of U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant for allowing "The Germans to put American citizens in jail without trial and without bail — an old German custom." The State Department has said that his removal originally was an economy move.
Judge Clark had defied the first order of November 25 on the grounds that a judge can be dismissed only for proven cause. The department suspended him on December 9, took his diplomatic passport, and gave him an ordinary one specifying his immediate return.

Basketball Team Turns Hot. A resurgent Princeton basketball team that pulled one major upset on a thoroughly successful road trip heads into the Eastern League campaign this weekend with high hopes of continuing to spring surprises. Needing time to improve, the Tigers will have the calendar on their side if they can take two of their first three games in circuit competition.

They go against Harvard Saturday night at Cambridge. On Tuesday, they'll play Columbia at New York and next Friday night, January 15, they open their league season at home entertaining Brown. In basketball and particularly in Ivy League competition, no outcome is a certainty. However, to stand a chance in the 1954 race, the Tigers must take two of the three games.

If they do so—the probable victories are against Harvard and Brown—they'll go into the examination period break with a 2-1 record on which a February drive for a first division berth can be based. They should not, of course, be counted out against Columbia and might even win in New York, but the Lions are tough to beat at home.

Fast Starts Pay Off. A whistling 44% average from the floor (35 field goals in 78 attempts) gave Princeton a solid 86-54 conquest of Rochester at the start of its post-Christmas trip. Bud Haabestad slapped in 19 points, Phil Zuravleff 14 and Dick Batt 13.

The Tigers started fast, leading 24-11 after one quarter, 43-26 at the half and 65-37 at the end of three periods. Some 2,300 fans saw the visitors inflict one of the worst defeats Rochester has ever suffered on its own court.

The big victory, of the four-game road trip came against Syracuse, the Tigers starting at a tremendous clip and maintaining their lead to register an 80-77 upset. The home forces, unbeaten on their own court this season, had gone into the fray a 14-point favorite. Two days earlier, they had trimmed Cornell at Ithaca in overtime for the Red's only loss in eight games.

ABLE CENTER: Much of the Princeton basketball team's success on its recent road trip is traceable to Dick Batt's rapid improvement at center.

In the first ten minutes, the Orange and Black threw in the amazing total of 30 points to take a seven-point lead. At half-time, its margin was 46-30 and while this was slightly whittled in the closing rounds, Syracuse never caught up.

Bud Haabestad had a terrific night, hitting for 11 field goals and converting on seven of eight free throws for 29 points before leaving the game with five personals. Three other players were in double figures, Mike Loprete

Basketball on TV

The Princeton-Columbia basketball game on Tuesday night will be televised at 8:30 over WPIX, Channel 11. Bud Palmer '43, former All-American basketball player, will be the commentator.

A number of the Tigers' home games in February and March will be televised over WATV, Channel 13. The last six of the season, beginning with the Harvard contest on February 20, will be seen, with the series possibly being extended to include the Temple and Columbia games on February 2 and 10.

with 15, Dick Batt with 14 and Phil Zuravleff with 10.

The number of points in the game (157) set a Princeton scoring record. The previous high was 156, set in contests last year and in 1952 against Penn at Philadelphia.

Pitt, by no means the team that Syracuse is, was running in front most of the way on Saturday as the strain of the road trip began to tell. No college team riding the rails and playing on a strange court each night can help—but show the effects at one time or another.

It was a poor first period that had the Tigers in trouble as they trailed by 20 to 8 after ten minutes. They were behind by 35-21 at the half, but a blazing finish provided a 64-57 triumph. They virtually doubled the Panthers' output in the final two rounds, scoring 43 points while holding the losers to 22.

Four players were again in double figures but surprisingly enough, Bud Haabestad wasn't among them. The high-scoring forward was held to eight points but Batt again had 15, Zuravleff and sophomore John DeVoe 11 each and Mike Loprete 10.

The Tigers came within ten seconds and two points of completing an all-victorious road trip Monday night when they nearly topped a strong Navy quintet at Annapolis. In possession of the ball out of bounds and ahead by 66-65 with a quarter-minute to go, they had the incoming pass stolen by Bill Slattery who popped in a one-handed shot from—Continued on Page 9 the foul circle to make it a 67-66 final for the middies.

The Orange and Black was down by 36-27 at the half but staged a fine comeback to take a third-period 51-47 advantage. Navy never quite drew even as the game moved to a close until Slatterly's basket gave it the verdict and its seventh victory in nine starts. The home team had been a 16-point favorite.

Bud Haabestad was again high man with 22 points and now has 149 in eight games for a tremendous 18.6 average. The figures are all the more impressive inasmuch as six of the Tigers' eight games have been played away from home.

Dick Batt continues to impress, accounting for 17 points against the middies and holding the Navy's ace center, Don Lange, to 11. Lange fouled out early in the third period in attempting to check Batt, whose marked improvement this season is a major factor in the team's upsurge.

Skaters Fourth at Troy. Princeton's hockey team is expected to break into the victory column this weekend after finishing fourth in the R.P.I. Tournament at Troy, N. Y. The problem confronting the Tigers this season is clearly illustrated by the fact that they won there a year ago and last week finished behind St. Francis Xavier of Nova Scotia, the eventual winners; R.P.I. and Brown.

The Canadians won 5-3, the score standing as their lowest margin of victory in the tournament. They ran over Brown, 8-1, and took R.P.I. in the final, 4-1. The score against Princeton was not, however, as close as it sounds: St. Francis had a 5-0 lead before the Tigers got three in the last period.

After a 5-0 defeat by R.P.I., Princeton played Brown on Saturday and was trimmed, 2-1, by its Pentagonal opponent in a game that does not count in league standings. The winning goal came with 21 seconds left.

The play of George Hackl, a Princeton resident, has given the team a definite lift this season. The Nassau junior accounted for two of the four goals the Tigers made last week and the line on which he skates with Pete Millard and Gordon Wilson has given a consistently good performance.

Blair Torrey turned in his usual fine job, making 78 saves to keep the somewhat punchless Tigers from being swamped by a barrage of opposition goals. Defenseman Dick Court was named to the all-tournament team; it is the work of this pair and Derek Price that will give the Tigers a chance this season if their attack can average three goals a game.

Coach Dick Vaughan refuses to take a dim view of the team's 1-5-1 record to date, and has good reason for his tempered optimism about the future. In tackling teams such as St. Francis and the three top American outfits (Dick ranks them R.P.I., St. Lawrence and Boston College) the Tigers have shown consistent promise.

None of the Pentagonal outfits can match these teams, Vaughan believes. He currently ranks Brown as the best of these five, followed closely by Harvard, Dartmouth, Yale and Princeton. A considerably better line on the circuit will be available after Saturday's games pairing Yale against Brown at Providence and Dartmouth against Harvard at Cambridge.

Victories Expected. Providence College this Thursday night at 8 and Army Saturday afternoon at 2 are the immediate opposition. With the exception of a return contest with R.P.I. on the way to Hanover next week and a game with American International on February 1, the rest of the schedule will be solely against Pentagonal opposition.

Neither of the Tigers' immediate opponents has the ability of

PHS to Meet Hun

Princeton High School and Hun will meet in basketball Tuesday afternoon at 3:15 on the Little Tigers' court. A return contest for the two teams is set for February 12 on Hun's court.

The high school resumes action this Friday night with a game against Long Branch at S. Hun will travel to Newark Saturday to play St. Benedict's.

most hockey teams in the east, and a pair of triumphs in Baker Rink is likely to result. On the intercollegiate slate, only Boston University has been tied so far, with St. Lawrence and Boston College holding victories over the Orange and Black in addition to last week's three losses.

Champions Repeat. Trinity College School of Port Hope, Ontario, retained its title last weekend in the Lawrenceville Invitation Tournament in Baker Rink. The able Canadians topped Deerfield, 5-3, in a well-played championship final. Finishing in order behind these two were Nichols School of Buffalo, Taft, Noble and Greenough, Andover, Lawrenceville and Exeter.

Although his team finished last and was shutout in all three games, Doug Levick of Princeton, Exeter co-captain, was picked for the all-tournament team. Two other Princeton residents, Hugh Fairman of Taft and Richard Whitney of Lawrenceville, broke into the scoring for their teams during the two-day session.

Short Notes. Bob Richey and Jim Thompson have been named co-captains of the 1954 football team at Princeton High School. Richey is a roving lineman and Thompson a guard, both with considerable varsity experience.

David Rogers of 190 Prospect Avenue won his varsity letter in soccer at Harvard last fall. He is a graduate of Deerfield.

The swimming team takes on Villanova in Dillon Pool Saturday at 4:30. Howie Canoune's outfit has a one-sided victory over Lafayette to its credit in its first meet this season. Fencing against Rutgers is also on the Saturday program.

cases, all with a trousseau look, and all quite inexpensive; from $1.95.
Long black gloves, formal as can be, but priced at wrist-length. They are Crescendo's fabric gloves for about $6.

Ahoy. To us, the word "cruise" means a canoe trip on Lake Carnegie and a pair of dungarees. But if Cruise means Mediterranean and a new wardrobe, you'll want to see the collection at The Joan Shop, 63 Palmer Square West. (Or, buy now for spring and summer.)
Here's a white polished cotton sundress with can-can figures kicking their way around its skirt. Black jacket. Another white cotton shows pictures of pearls and rubies. Print-skirts (separates) are Signature prints; the designer uses the pattern for this skirt and no other fabric. We found fish and marine figures on aqua or lavender. Black Signature skirts have colorful figures around the bottom; label calls it "Circus"—we thought it looked like a carnival in Haiti.

To go with—an Irish linen blouse, or a pure silk shantung print for $12.95. Dacron has been used to make a ribbed blouse with tiny net ruffle at the sleeve's end; very dandy, for $10.95.
Dresses in The Joan Shop begin at $10.95 and continue from there. Prints in rayon surah or pure silk surah can be worn 12 months of the year, but somehow you find most of them right now. A navy silk suit has a navy velvet collar, a black silk suit has velvet trim, too.

For the South, look at a pale pink sharkskin with shrug jacket in pink wool and rayon. An occasional pearl sparks the jacket. White pique has an embroidered applique of coral with a sequin here and there. Interesting neckline in this dress; comes up to points now and again.
We liked a four-piece polished cotton in bright sky blue with a white pear-shaped print. Loops of white braid outline the neck of a halter, the edge of a jacket, and the flared pockets of a pair of shorts. Skirt goes along, too. In beige as well as blue.

Lingerie in The Joan Shop is movie-struck; look at the leopard skin nylon pajamas and robe to match. What leopard wears these! Or the red, red slip in nylon with deep pleats at the border and red lace at the top. Matching gown, if you can stand it; personally, we thought it was terrific.
At the opposite end of the scale, a demure pink nylon with small-boy collar and lace trimming on the yoke. An exquisitely made gown.

Art and Book. Allan Jones, an artist from Hampton, Virginia, is now showing and selling his paintings at The Witherspoon Art and Book Shop on Spring Street. Mr. Jones has studied at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, and has traveled in Europe on various scholarships.
His current book is concerned with the tidewater region bordering the lower Chesapeake, but many of the watercolors and temperas at the Art and Book are scenes of Europe, done while he was studying there. Prices range from $12 to $30.

"This Is New Jersey," by John T. Cunningham of the Newark News, is now on the tables at the Art and Book at its current price of $5. After these are sold, the publishers are putting the price up to $6, so perhaps you'd better pick up a copy now.
If you decide to give another party, after you recover from the holidays, look over the book of Masslinn cloth napkins and party accessories at The Witherspoon Art and Book Shop. You can have initials, special colors—anything you like for a cocktail party. Also guest towels and initialed silver ashtrays.

Terming his dismissal "the most outrageous performance I've ever seen," Judge Clark indicated that he may seek action against Mr. Dulles to obtain another passport. The 62-year old jurist said he plans to write his doctoral thesis at the University of Munich, where he has passed his examinations for a doctorate of jurisprudence. With his home here reportedly rented, there was no immediate indication as to when he might come to Princeton.

Griffin Nominated. The Social Service Bureau will vote on a slate headed by Gordon D. Griffin at its annual meeting scheduled for Monday, January 18, at 8 in the First Presbyterian Church. Mr. Griffin, a Princeton attorney, was nominated to serve as president of the agency for a second year. Miss Sarah P. Scott, a professional social worker with the New Jersey Children's Home Society, is the nominee for vice-president. Howard B. Waxwood Jr., secretary, and Mrs. Florence Vogel, treasurer, were re-nominated.

The nominating committee composed of Mrs. Douglas Delaney, Mrs. Maurice Healy, Jr. and Dr. J. Kendall Wallis, selected Mrs. Richard V. Lindabury, Mrs. John W. Tulkey and Richard W. Colman Jr. for three-year terms on the board of directors. Continuing on the board in unexpired terms are Mrs. J. Douglas Brown, Mrs. Margaret Dorman, Mrs. Healy, Mrs. Jess Epstein, Mrs. Daniel T. Pierce, Jr., Mrs. Paul S. Smith, Dr. Jonathan Howland, the Rev. William T. Parker and Chester R. Stroup.

Hoff Honored. Joseph S. Hoff, who has been associated with the First National Bank since its opening day, was the guest of honor at a surprise luncheon marking the 60th anniversary of the bank's founding. An inscribed silver bowl was presented to Mr. Hoff by John P. Poe, president of the bank, at the luncheon in the Nassau Tavern. Mr. Hoff has served in many posts during his long career in the community, including three terms as mayor of the Borough.

Rotary to Hear Bill. Alfred H. Bill, author and historian whose home is at 21 Westcott Road, will speak to the Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Nassau Tavern. An authority on the American Revolution, Mr. Bill will discuss "The Battle of Princeton as Seen by the Village of Princeton," taking as his approach the battle's impact on this community 177 years ago—on January 3, 1777. Plans are also underway for a talk to be given to Rotary by Governor-elect Robert B. Meyner in the late winter or early spring. Members of the Lions Club will join them for the session.

Grand Jury Named. Four residents of the Princeton area have been selected for the January session of the Mercer County Grand Jury. They are James H. Ackerman of 37 Hodge Road, named deputy foreman; John S. Mounl of 37 Wiggins Street; Francis J. Ward of Montgomery Avenue, Princeton Junction, and Mrs. Annah F. Wright of 9 Newlin Road.

Superior Court Judge Ralph J. Smalley directed the new panel to probe the causes of the recent wave of violent crimes in Trenton and surrounding areas and to examine the testimony given in the Bergen County investigations for possible false swearing on perjury.

Mission Head to Speak. Miss Esther Bartlett, supervising principal of 5,000-pupil mission school district in French Cameroun in Africa, will speak in the new assembly room of the First Presbyterian Church next Wednesday at 8 p.m. A congregation supper will precede the program at 6:45 and reservations may be made at the church office.

Miss Bartlett will show slides of her work, which includes travel of up to 50,000 miles a year in a jeep through her district. She has served under the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions since 1931, developing educational missions in the heavily-populated Elat and Efulan provinces of French Cameroun.

Scripture Group Formed. A number of Princetonians have formed a Scripture Study Group with Dr. Richard H. Bube, a research physicist at RCA, as the discussion leader. The first of the group's weekly meetings will be held Sunday at 4 p.m. in the YWCA Center, 202 Nassau Street. The group is not associated with any denomination or organization, and is dedicated to obtaining knowledge and understanding.—Continued on Page 12 standing of the doctrines and principals of the Christian faith as revealed in The Bible. The meetings are open to all interested persons.

School Fund Aided, Mr. and Mrs.
 Bayard Stockton, 34, have reported that proceeds from the invitation dance given in the barn near their VenDyke Road home on New Year's Eve totalled $969.50. The entire sum has been sent to the St. James School Fund to aid that boys' secondary institution in building a new gymnasium.

Mr. Stockton is an alumnus of St. James and is active in fundraising on its behalf in various eastern cities. In addition to the entire proceeds from the dance, he reports that a supplementary contribution was received from Charlie Covert and his band in the form of a portion of their pay for the evening.

Program for Mothers. The YWCA has scheduled a new 12-week series of activities for its popular "Mothers' Morning Out," held at the Green Street Center on Tuesdays at 10 a.m. Full information may be obtained from Miss Esther Todd (1239-W).

The program will include "Body Technique and Figure Control" given by Milla Gibbons; a class in water colors, oils and crafts under the direction of Mary Gibbs;
 "Homemaker's Clinic" to be given by guest lecturers, and three lectures on "Understanding Your Child" by Jack Bardon, psychologist at Princeton High School.
 The nursery will be under the direction of Genevieve Kennedy.

Miscellany. Additional gifts to the Town Topics Christmas Fund have raised the figure to $2,192.50, with contributions coming from more than 400 individuals.

Henry Schultz, Princeton's blind
 Santa Claus, has written operators of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, Mr. and Mrs.
 Minot Morgan, Jr. and Town
 Topics to express his deep appreciation for assistance in again arranging the service he provides for the children of the community. He also is most appreciative to all merchants and individuals who contributed to the fund for him.

The first Princeton boy to be born at Princeton Hospital this year is the son of Mr. and Mrs.
 Michael Mazella, 214 Withers-pool Street. He arrived on New Year's Day, with the first girl born to a Princeton area family the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
 Philip H. Burch, Jr., 30 Chestnut Street. She arrived January 3.

Other births: sons to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gorman, Pretty Brook Road; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. Robbins, Montgomery Avenue, Rocky Hill (another New Year's Day arrival); and daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Robert J.

Elastic Hosiery

FULL-FOOTED

You do not have to wear a second pair of hose over our ELASTIC HOSIERY. This eliminates unattractive bulkiness and unsightly wrinkles.

SHEER

Knit of nylon and rubber with mercerized cotton and nylon cuff, NEW ELASTIC Hosiery is hardly discernible from service-weight nylons.

FORM-FITTED

NEW ELASTIC HOSIERY is shaped in fashion to fit snugly at the heel and ankle, to give firm two-way stretch support over the calf. They are cool, comfortable and attractive on the leg.
